Mockup Review

Overall, I think this is looking great! The concept and content is clear through the navigation and subheaders. I like how the home page provides a brief summary of her work so the user knows what the website is about from a first glance.

The sections "MIT Press" through "Legacy" have a very consistent feel with the subheaders and placement of images. While I do really like the design you used for the "Early Life" section, I feel like it doesn't fit with the rest of the website's design. Maybe a different color palette, such as pulling the purple tones from the first two images, could tie it in better? Also, the navigation bar is clear, but I would try increase the spacing between section titles a bit more to make the distinction between sections more clear.

Again, the website looks great so far! The images you chose work well and there is a clear hierarchy for the content.
